THREE PRISONERS DISMISSED

Only the Two Mitchells to be Tried for the Murder of Mrs. Greenhalgh

HANNA SPRINGS SURPRISE

Balks Plan of Defense to Prevent Prisoners From Taking Stand Against Each Other

State's Attorney Hanna Tuesday afternoon sprang a clever dodge when the Greenhalgh case was called for trial.

He nolle prossed the charges against Walter and Jennie Greenhalgh and Mrs. Louisa Schmidt, which will permit their appearing on the stand and telling the story of Mrs. Letitia Greenhalgh's death against Harold and Mrs. Mitchell, leaders of the strange cult, alleged to have tortured Mrs. Greenhalgh to death.

In other words the clever attempts of the lawyers for the defense to balk the state in its efforts to get the story of the death of Mrs. Greenhalgh before a jury have come to naught.

Immediately the state's attorney had nolle prossed the case against the three defendants named, Attorney Orvis for the defense moved for a separate trial and was over ruled by Judge Donnelly.

At 2:30 names of prospective jurors was called and the first panel of twelve took their chairs in the jury box in preparation for what will be the most dramatic hearing ever gone through with in the Lake County court, a hearing in which the destinies of the Christian Science and every other faith healing cult in the state of Illinois is involved.

Two months ago, in Zion City, Harold Mitchell and his wife, now standing trial for the alleged murder of Mrs. Letitia Greenhalgh, are alleged to have met Walter Greenhalgh and his sister Jennie, with Mrs. Schmidt at the Greenhalgh home at about noon one Wednesday.

They went into the woman's room, it is alleged and proceeded to twist her limbs. It is confessed by Walter Greenhalgh, accompanying the whole action by song and prayer, until it is said they had broken every bone of the old woman's body with their atrocious treatments.

It is said that even after this they continued their fantastic mummeries, forcing the son to kiss the dead and mutilated body of his mother until he broke down and turning his head away wept hysterically.

Attorney Claire C. Edwards for the defense has spent months in the study of occult science, faith curing, new thought and allied subjects and is today the best informed lawyer in Illinois on these subjects, so that a stirring battle with great issues at stake is the prospect.

The Mitchells headed a cult that believed that illness was caused by devils taking possession of the human frame and they tried, it is alleged, to drive the devils out of Mrs. Greenhalgh and cure her of rheumatism of twenty-two years' standing, instead causing her a miserable death, the state alleges.

They further believed in strange spirit manifestations and the gift of tongues which they claimed to have possessed, asserting also that they saw strange sights and heard strange words the day they tried to cure Mrs. Greenhalgh.

By dismissing the case against the three defendants named above and narrowing the case to that against the Mitchells, who if any are to blame, the state cleverly solves a puzzle.

If all had been tried together the defense would simply have put the lid on any testifying for fear of self-incrimination and the state would have been "up against it." Now there is no chance of this.

FORMER RESIDENT MARRIED

Mrs. Agnes Williams Married at Hooker, Oklahoma.

The following article clipped from the Hooker, Oklahoma, Advance will be of interest to many of our readers as the bride therein mentioned was formerly Mrs. Agnes Williams, who made her home at this place for a number of years, and has a large circle of friends here who unite with the News in extending congratulations to the happy couple.

James C. Gruzard and Mrs. Agnes Williams were married at the residence of J. E. Booth on Sunday, Nov. 3, 1907, at six o'clock, Rev. H. D. Johnson officiating. Only a few friends were present.

Mr. Gruzard is one of our oldest and best citizens, having reached here in the early spring of 1904. He settled on his claim two miles west of town where he lived up to this fall when he sold the farm and purchased a tract of land adjoining the town. After a short visit to the old home at Milwaukee he came back and has been as busy as a bee getting ready for the reception of his bride. He has built a nice house, put down a well and otherwise improved, but is not through yet.

Mrs. Agnes Williams came here with her husband, Frank Williams, about a year and a half ago and made their home with Mr. Gruzard up to the time Mr. Williams died, about a year ago. She has just returned from a trip to Wisconsin and Illinois. She will do her part to help make the new home a happy one, and with substantial comforts and the best wishes of many friends the fireside is sure to provide happiness and peace.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT NEAR ROLLINS SUNDAY

Grant Blair, 27 years of age, of Chicago, was accidentally shot at the Orlando Hook place near Rollins Sunday, when a gun with a loose hammer exploded on the front porch of the Hook residence and seven shots were lodged in Blair's face, one under the eye, another through the ear and others in the cheek.

Blair and his companions had come out from Chicago to hunt and had stacked their guns on the porch of the Hook place, where they are known. One went to take a gun from the stack when the loose hammer came down and the gun exploded, hitting Blair, who was fifteen feet away. Dr. Palmer of Grayslake, attended and Blair was able to return to his home.

THE SHERIFF MAY OPEN PRISONERS MAIL

A sheriff or jailer has the legal right to open mail directed to a prisoner in the absence of a specific order that the mail be not delivered to the jailer or sheriff. Postal inspector James E. Stuart makes this comment on the arrest of Fred A. Carter, sheriff of Lake county, Ind., charged with having opened the mail of Alexander Poleski, a prisoner: "I am not familiar with the circumstances in the Carter case," said Mr. Stuart, "but the postoffice department's position in this matter is as well settled as in the law on that subject upon which court decisions were given as long ago as 1853."

GOVERNMENT TO DREDGE CHANNEL

County Treasurer Fred Ames is heading a new project to connect the Fox Lake chain of lakes with navigable channels.

The scheme is to get up a petition to ask the United States government to dredge out a channel from Grass Lake through to Lake Marie and then to Channel Lake, which can be done at an expense not to exceed $15,000.

The Fox river is navigable to Channel Lake, but a passage is needed between the other lake for the convenience of summers. Such a passage would materially increase the popularity of the resorts and facilitate connections between the different villages. Treasurer Ames will interest Mayor Busse and others along Fox and other lake shores.

Grieg as a Schoolboy

Grieg was not a pattern schoolboy. In a description of his days at school he wrote: "Knowing that by arriving late I would not be allowed to enter the class until the end of the first lesson, I used, on wet mornings, to stand under a dripping roof, until I was soaked to the skin. The master then sent me home to change my clothes, but the distance being long this was equivalent to giving me a dispensation! You may guess that I played this prank pretty often, but when at last I carried it so far as to come one day wet through, though it had hardly rained at all, they became suspicious, and kept a lookout. One fine day I was caught, and made an intimate acquaintance with the birch!"

VALUABLE HORSE STOLEN

Amelius Ames of Waukegan, Loses Horse Through Work of Horse Thief

ANIMAL VALUED AT $200

Traces Animal Through an Orchard to North of His Home by the Foot Prints

A valuable work horse belonging to Amelius Ames of Lewis avenue, Waukegan, former president of the Waukegan Teamsters' Union, was stolen from the barn early Thursday evening and the police of this county are working hard to locate the thief.

While there is a bare chance that the animal got away of itself, Mr. Ames and those who have investigated the matter scout the possibility, saying that everything indicates that the animal was stolen.

Mr. Ames had put his team away about six o'clock, bedding them down as usual after a hard day's work.

The barn door was closed as usual and Friday morning when he went to the barn to feed the horses, he found the door open and soon discovered that one of the horses was gone. It was the better animal of the team and worth about $200. The horse weighs about 1200 pounds, is a dark bay and has a small barb wire cut on one of its front feet.

Mr. Ames at first thought, the animal had broken out of the barn but he investigated and found that the halter which had been firmly tied the night before, was also gone and there was no sign that the animal had broken away of itself for the bedding was not even disturbed, showing that the horse had left the barn so early in the evening that it had not laid down for the night.

Mr. Ames at once tried to trace his horse's foot prints and he was able to trace them quite a distance because the animal had a shoe out of the ordinary shape. He traced it through the orchard to the north of his house. In answer to the question as to why a thief would have taken that roundabout way to get out of the yard, it is explained that, had he taken it right along the driveway he would have heard the tread of the feet. Therefore the conclusion seems logical that the thief took the animal across the orchard in order to avoid attracting attention.

Because of the unusual footprints Mr. Ames says he was also able to trace the horse down the road quite a distance but finally lost track of it.

Mr. Ames is positive that the animal did not wander away because it could not have gotten out of the barn unaided and, if it had, his belief is that it would have remained right about his place as they have often let the horses out to graze.

BOND ISSUE IS CARRIED

Fox Lake Villagers Almost Two to One in Favor of Issuing School Bonds.

The question as to whether the villagers should authorize the issuing of $3,500 bonds for the erection of a village school building served to draw out almost every vote in the village of Fox Lake Saturday last.

Although it was only an apparently small question before the people, seldom has the interest in an election been more intense in the town of Grant as on Saturday.

The vote on the school bonds matter was: For, 54; against, 28.

The school for which the bonds will be issued is already in course of construction and the village is daily in need of it.

O. Marble, it is said, had out a specially printed ticket for the election but according to reports, there was but one of those special tickets voted, indicating that Con's strength in the village has dwindled considerably. The only change in his ticket over the other was that he wished to embrace an additional 60 feet of land for the school site.

The school, when finished will be one of the best in the country towns of the county.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST SALOONS

Keeping Open of Resorts in Waukegan to be Attacked by Churches of City

LOCAL OPTION GREAT ISSUE

Every Minister to Set Aside One Day to Speak on Alleged Abuses of Laws on Closing in That City

A strenuous pulpit campaign against the saloons of Waukegan, which are alleged with few exceptions to keep open on Sunday, is planned for an early date by ministers.

Taking as their topic the lawlessness of the saloon, it is said that they will deal with alleged violations only, all speaking on the same topic on the same Sunday and raising a whirlwind of public sentiment against the reported lawlessness that will reap a harvest of reform.

Every minister in Waukegan will have something to say against the bad features of the saloon, particularly about keeping open on Sunday, if plans now being made are successful.

What is more, this plan will be depended on to do the work, and if it does not other such wholesale attacks may follow on other Sundays.

"What is the use of taking our case to the courts?" asked a prominent churchman. "We always get a dirty deal. Our hearing is always before a saloon prejudiced jury or justice and with saloon prejudiced attorneys who 'throw' us."

"We shall appeal to the court of last resort, the great sovereign people, and depend on public sentiment rather than on slighting officials to correct abuses."

Ministers deny that there is any active movement on against the saloons and the head of this particular anti-saloon Sunday movement can not be found, although the idea is gaining favor among the church people, who are howling about the saloons as they have never howled before, backed up as they never have been before.

Local option is the greatest issue in the state today, and a hot bed of sentiment is right in Waukegan. The anti-saloon Sunday, when the whole public's attention is to be turned to alleged abuses by Waukegan saloonkeepers, is only one step in the campaign.

"Saloonkeepers who think they are up against a lot of sap heads and skunk reformers are badly mistaken. This is not a prohibition movement. It is a local option movement. We are going to put the matter to test in Waukegan this spring. If the people want saloons they will say so and if they don't they will say so too. At any rate it behooves the saloons to stay shut on Sundays and expose the interior of their places if they wish to gain favor. They are getting away from it now."

WITH THE BRAND OF CAIN.

French Scientist Advocates the Marking of Murderers.

A French scientist has made a remarkable proposal in regard to the punishment of murderers in France. He is of the opinion that neither guillotining nor life imprisonment is an adequate or suitable punishment for murder. The guillotine, he points out, inflicts absolutely no suffering on the criminal, who is probably a man who has passed his life in inflicting suffering on others. As to life imprisonment, it entails a heavy expense to the country and generally reduces the prisoner to insanity. He suggests, therefore, that such criminals shall be branded on the face with a red hot iron and then released. The branding, he thinks, should be done in public, the "M," signifying meurtrier, the French word for murderer, being stamped as an ineradicable mark on the forehead of the criminal. He would thus bear about to the end of his days the mark of his crime, and be a constant warning to his kind.

Ham Was Hard to Find.

Mrs. M. G. Quackenbos, whom Attorney General Bonaparte has made one of his special assistants in the campaign against the trusts, is a New York lawyer. She tells this story of a allway ham sandwich: "A man paused bitterly in the consumption of a very hard, dry railway ham sandwich and said to the maid behind the counter: 'don't see no ham in this.' 'It ain't come to it yet,' said the maid with a smile. A minute or two later the man's jaws worked gloomily. 'The man's jaws worked gloomily. They stopped again, and he said: 'I don't see no ham yet, young man.' 'Oh she replied, 'you've gone and bit away it now.'"

BAD FALL CAUSES DEATH

Mike Downs of Waukegan, Falls Fifteen Feet—Breaks Neck

While standing on the deck of the billet barge Bently, which was unloading billets for the American Steel and Wire Company at its docks in Waukegan Friday evening at 10 o'clock Moea Downs, an Austrian employe of two years' standing, lost his balance while attempting to reach for the cable of the hoisting machine that hoists the billets from the bottom of the boat, and fell to the bottom of the barge fracturing his skull and probably breaking his neck.

Downs has worked on all the boats that have been in at the docks this season and is supposed to have been a first class hooker.

Downs was, prior to the time of the accident working in the hold of the boat hooking triples of billets to a chain by which they are hauled up from the hold and then swung over onto the cars that are standing on the siding.

The last time the hook was let down it seems that he was unable to reach the lower end of the chain, so he crawled up from the hold to the deck and with the use of a "bullet hook," reached over the side in an attempt to lower the chain.

He immediately lost his balance, which resulted in his falling to the bottom of the hold, a distance of probably fifteen feet.

He was picked up by some of his friends who were working in the hold alongside him, and carried to the time shanty, where his body was left until the Larson & Conrad ambulance arrived on the scene and conveyed the body to the morgue.

Witnesses to the accident were unable to state anything, as they were unable to speak any English.

Downs has made his home on South Sheridan Road and it is reported that he is not a married man.

CELEBRATE WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

On Sunday of this week a number of the relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Little gathered at their home to help them celebrate their fortieth wedding anniversary. About forty guests were present and Mr. and Mrs. Little were the recipients of many beautiful presents, among which was a handsome dining table presented to them by their children.

A bountiful dinner was served at noon to which all did ample justice. Toward evening all departed for their various homes each declaring that they had spent a very pleasant day and wishing their host and hostess many more happy anniversaries. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. Woodward, Gurnee; Mr. and Mrs. M. Woodward and two daughters, Twin Lakes; Mr. and Mrs. F. Shepard and baby, Evanston; Mr. and Mrs. W. Neil and daughter, Grayslake; Mr. and Mrs. A. Little and family, Grass Lake; Mr. and Mrs. H. Middendorf, Mr. and Mrs. S. La Plant and children, Mr. and Mrs. F. Runyard and children, Mr. and Mrs. J. Drury, Mrs. Herman and daughter, and Mrs. W. Runyard and children.

GRAND DIAMOND CONTEST

For the first time in its history Waukegan will have a grand diamond election medal contest on November 22, under the auspices of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, at a place to be announced later. Waukegan has always striven to get a grand diamond contest but has always been unsuccessful such contest being held generally in Chicago. Now, however, there are enough holders of diamond medals, one degree below grand diamond medals, to hold the contest there for the higher trophy and the announcement was made to these Friday morning so all scurried for pieces to speak.

KILLED IN WRECK IN CALIFORNIA

"Jim" MacGregor, ex-alderman and former prominent resident of Libertyville, was killed Thursday in a wreck in California, where he has been for several years. Libertyville relatives received a telegram Friday and the news of the death caused sorrow.

MacGregor was a former old resident of Libertyville, for years an alderman. For a long time he was a conductor on the St. Paul milk run between Chicago and Janesville. He belonged to old Scotch stock and has relatives in Libertyville and Millburn, it is said.

SECURES SITE FOR NEW ZION

Tract Contains 7,000 Acres and is Known as the Las Vegas Land Grant

MODEL CITY IS THE PLAN

To Start With Twenty Families and the Expectation of Two Thousand Within Two Years

The attractive country around Las Vegas, N. M., is to be the scene of the future operations of Wilbur Glenn Voliva and his followers. Elder Peters, who acted as the representative of Mr. Voliva in seeking a new location for those who desire to leave Zion City, has closed a contract for 7,000 acres in what is known as the Las Vegas land grant. Mr. Voliva and his followers intend to sell out all of their holdings in Zion City as rapidly as possible and then to leave for the south-west.

It is expected that about twenty families will be able to start this winter, and they will be followed by others as rapidly as they can wind up their affairs at Zion City. Elder Peters says it is the expectation to have 2,000 families settled on the mesa east of Las Vegas within the next two years.

Within a few months it is believed that a beginning will be made on the model city that Voliva hopes to start. The city is to have factories, stores, a newspaper and is to be self governing if present plans are carried out. Primarily the colony will devote itself to agriculture, but it is the intention to build up the community sufficiently so that there will be employment of a diversified nature.

The site is not far from the hot springs of New Mexico. It was chosen after Elder Peters had made a careful examination of the situation, together with Professor J. E. Tinsley of the New Mexico College of Mechanical Arts and Professor H. W. Campbell, originator of the "dry farming" system. Both experts told Elder Peters that the land was valuable for agricultural purposes.

This land grant is unique because of the fact that it is owned by the City of Las Vegas, which therefore becomes the wealthiest community, per capita in the United States.

This city of 10,000 inhabitants owns 500,000 acres, worth certainly $1,300,000, and possibly as much as $3,000,000. The land is being placed on the market in tracts of 50,000 acres, and one block must be sold before the next is opened. The money is to be used as a permanent school fund. The proceeds from the sale of the land will be invested and the interest will be used for maintenance of the public schools, schools will therefore become independent of taxes and taxing authorities. This believed to be the only instance of the kind in this country.

Title to this empire came to Las Vegas in 1903, when the Supreme Court of the United States settled a case that had pending for fifty years. The drama gave the land to the city began with tempted land grab which was under by twenty-five Spaniards nearly 100 ago. They were under the leadership of Don Jose Antonio Canos, and they plan to seize vast tracts for themselves and their heirs to hold forever. The City of Vegas now stands in the center of the tract.

In 1820 the government of the United States of New Mexico issued the grant twenty-five Spaniards "for the planting a moderate crop and to be the corresponding commons for pasture and watering places."

The Mystery OF Carney-Croft

By
JOSEPH BROWN COOKE

(Copyright, 1907, by Story-Press Corporation.)

I puzzled long and deeply over these words, for they brought a new and hitherto unsuspected person into the case. Whom did the widow mean by "she"? It could not have been Miss Weston, who was too ill to leave her bed, and, after considerable thought, I was forced to believe, as the only possible explanation, that the pronoun referred to one of the servants in the house. This, to my mind, added materially to the gravity of the affair, for if unknown members of the domestic staff were concerned in the matter there was no telling how far the conspiracy might reach nor to what purpose it was carried on.

I had become so accustomed to mysterious happenings of this sort, and my head was so filled with visions of Miss Carney, and with the words I was now determined to say to her, that no impression could have been made on my mind by anything short of a most startling phenomenon.

As I have said, the message was evidently intended for Jenks and was from the widow, who, it seemed equally clear, either was or had been in the subterranean passage holding converse with its loathsome inhabitants.

From my window I could see that there were no lights in her cottage, and I was on the point of venturing forth again and, from a safe distance, watching the pit until she emerged and started for home, when a realization of my physical exhaustion took hold of me and I adopted the wiser plan of remaining in my room.

The night was far from restful, and at the first glimpse of daylight I dressed and returned to the manhole. There was a light fall of snow on the ground and I was not surprised to see that someone had climbed out of the shaft and gone across the lawn toward the Bruce house, but the lid of the manhole was securely fastened down as before.

In my efforts to raise it, or at least to assure myself that it was locked, I found, at the sides, two openings in the grating larger than the others and, slipping my revolver easily back and forth through one of these, I was no longer at a loss to understand how it had appeared so mysteriously the night before.

It was quite evident that it had been passed up through the opening and turned until it lay flat on the grating, the person below doubtless mistaking me for Jenks and misconstruing my efforts to raise the lid into a signal from the stage driver that he had arrived and was awaiting orders. That I did not understand this simple maneuver from the first and appreciate the situation at a glance was because of my highly excited nervous state and my subsequent encounter with Jenks himself.

On my return to the house I found the following telegram which had just arrived:

"Wire received. Will not await letter. Sure to arrive on time."

"CARNEY."

This message was dated New York and, apparently, had been transmitted thence from the cable over the local wire to Carney-Croft. It must have been in response to my dispatch of the previous day and served to set my mind at rest as to the whereabouts and purposes of John Carney, which had been troubling me in an indefinite way for some time past.

The only thing now left for me to do seemed to be to remain virtually passive until he arrived, keeping a sharp watch on things, but taking no positive steps in his absence unless unforeseen circumstances arose to call for immediate action. My chief desire was to see Miss Carney and make clear to her my feelings, but this seemed to be out of the question, as she remained constantly with Miss Weston and no longer came to any meals or showed herself about the house.

The country was fast taking on the mantle of white under which it was to sleep for so many long weeks, and it was with a comfortable shiver that I entered the library, just before luncheon, and strode up to the fire to warm my hands and toast my shins and back successfully.

I found Miss Weston's physician similarly engaged and asked him solicitously concerning his patient.

His face clouded and I even thought I saw a tear in the corner of his eye, for, like all doctors with the right kind of stuff in them, familiarity with human suffering had only warmed his heart and softened his nature.

"I had hoped," he continued, "that young Carney's return would have a good effect on her, but when we told her of the message that came this morning she only drew the sheets over her face and broke down completely. There is something more to this, Mr. Ware, than the mere absence of her sweetheart, but what it is I cannot even imagine."

"Then you know nothing of the mystery of Carney-Croft?" I asked cautiously, closing the door and speaking in a low tone.

"The mystery of Carney-Croft!" he exclaimed in bewildered surprise and then his face relaxed and he smiled pleasantly as he said: "Oh! you mean the ghost stories that were told about here after Mr. Carney died?"

"Well," I returned, "ghosts or something of the sort were really seen about the place, were they not?"

His smile broadened as he replied: "Oh, yes, some of the boys did rig themselves up in sheets and play spook for a time, until I took a hand in it myself and drove them out. I was going to send you word about it, but I found it was only a lot of boyish pranks, and that they hadn't done any harm beyond getting into the old tunnel by the river, and, of course, that didn't amount to anything."

"The old tunnel!" I exclaimed in well-feigned surprise. "Is there a tunnel by the river?"

"You never heard of it, of course," he went on, "and I fancy nearly everyone has forgotten it by this time. When Mr. Carney began to build here he located his house some 200 yards farther down the hill toward the water. He had a plan of running a little tunnel from the cellar to the river so that ashes and other refuse from the house could be taken out that way and not clutter up the lawns or be seen from the windows."

"Just as this work was partially completed the old dam, some two miles up the stream, was demolished and a new one built about a mile below. This raised the water level until the far end of his tunnel was completely submerged and so he gave up the scheme entirely and began a new cellar quite a distance back from the first. The partly finished tunnel and the excavation for the original cellar were covered over and had practically been forgotten by everybody except the boys, who used to dive down and swim into the hole in the summer."

"Then, as I say, they got the idea of playing ghost and would run down the hill in the moonlight with nothing on but a sheet or a piece of old fish net."

"The very man!" exclaimed the doctor. "I know him well by reputation. When will he arrive?"

"If my wire is delivered promptly he can get here on the midnight train," I replied. "I know he will start at once, for I sent for him at his own suggestion, in response to a letter from me telling him of the tunnel affair, and I think he has some very definite theories on the subject."

"Just the thing!" cried the doctor, picking up the powder and hurrying toward the door. "Let me know the minute he sets foot in the house. I shall be here all night."

"We Cannot Hope to Save Her."

which waved out far out behind them. When they got to the edge of the bank they would emit some sort of a ghostly yell and dive down out of sight. Finally, when all the young girls in the neighborhood began to get hysterics, I discovered what was going on and put a stop to it by giving two or three of the ringleaders a sound thrashing and installing a family of beavers in the tunnel who vigorously attacked all future intruders."

The doctor laughed heartily as he finished his little tale and concluded by saying:

"There have been occasional rumors of ghost since then, I know, but I fancy that is the biggest mystery Carney-Croft ever had."

"Doctor," I returned seriously, "there is a far greater mystery than that going on here this very minute. That tunnel is again occupied, by whom I do not know, but the man or men who are down there are in league with that Bruce woman who lives in the new cottage, and with Jenks, the stage driver. Moreover, these people are connected in some inexplicable way with Miss Weston, and the Bruce woman, who seems to be the head and front of the whole thing, has written letters to Miss Weston, and even to me, most of which contain vague references to Miss Carney and threats that—"

"The Bruce woman written to you?" exclaimed the doctor. "Why, my dear sir, it is impossible! I have known the woman for a dozen years and she cannot read a word or write a letter!"

At that moment he was summoned hurriedly to Miss Weston's room and I was handed a telegram from MacArdel which read:

"Keep away from that hole and do nothing till you get my letter. Your life may depend on it. Wire if you wish me to come."

The messenger was waiting and, with no thought of the letter to which he referred, but only to hasten the time when some one would be with me to whom I could talk, I replied with the single word, "Come."

CHAPTER XXV. A Drive in the Storm.

A moment later the doctor returned hurriedly to the library for his medicine case and said:

"I wish we could get consultation here in the country," he continued, measuring out some powders with a critical air and depositing them on bits of paper which he had cut for the purpose. "Most of the deaths in this part of the world are from accident or old age, and a man with a large city practice and extensive hospital experience might possibly suggest some means of prolonging her life for a time. We cannot hope to save her, but I wish we could keep her till Carney comes."

"I have telegraphed my friend MacArdel to come and help me solve the mystery of the place," I ventured cautiously, not wishing to hurt his professional pride. "You know he was with me here last summer and we had a number of very peculiar experiences then, so he knows a good deal about it already, and I thought we could work together to advantage. Perhaps he could be of service to you at the same time."

"The very man!" exclaimed the doctor. "I know him well by reputation. When will he arrive?"

"If my wire is delivered promptly he can get here on the midnight train," I replied. "I know he will start at once, for I sent for him at his own suggestion, in response to a letter from me telling him of the tunnel affair, and I think he has some very definite theories on the subject."

"Just the thing!" cried the doctor, picking up the powder and hurrying toward the door. "Let me know the minute he sets foot in the house. I shall be here all night."

Our Springfield Letter

Special Correspondent Writes of Things of Interest at the State Capital.

Springfield. — Attorney General Stead delivered an opinion holding that it is for the courts and not the legislature to determine whether the Des Plaines river is a navigable stream. The opinion was prepared at the request of Gov. Deneen in order that the administration might ascertain the proper method of stopping work on the Economy Light & Power company's dam at Dresden Heights, which, if completed, will kill the deep waterway project. It covers three questions and in tabular form its contents are as follows:

1. The supreme bench has defined what constitutes a navigable stream, and it is for the courts to decide whether the Des Plaines river conforms to the definition. A stream which is not in fact navigable cannot be made so by the passage of a statute.

2. If the Des Plaines is navigable in fact, and a dam obstructs navigation the state has the right to remove it and can enforce this right by proceedings in chancery either through the attorney general or the state's attorney of the proper county. If the river is navigable the owners of an obstructing dam are liable to fine and imprisonment for maintaining a public nuisance. If the Des Plaines is not navigable no action will now lie by the state to remove the dam at Dresden Heights or to prevent its completion.

3. The leases to sewage rights on state lands given by the Illinois and Michigan canal commission to the Economy Light & Power company are valid. Leaders among the progressives, after looking over the opinion, pointed out that although it appears adverse to the navigability bill which the senate machine slashed, it contains no real consolation for the Barnacles for the reason that it does not treat the basic idea of the bill. The general understanding has been that the navigability bill was introduced in order that the state might define a public policy in regard to the deep waterway project. In other words, its real purpose was to serve notice upon private interests that the state contemplates using the Des Plaines river in the construction of a great public improvement, and that the Economy Light & Power company would assume all risks in building its dam at Dresden Heights.

Approves New Canal Inlet.

Dr. Rudolph Hering of New York, now employed by the sanitary district, who has been investigating the probable effect on the lake level of an additional inlet to the drainage canal, says it will not lower the lakes. The report is to be made in the suit started by the government restraining the sanitary district from constructing an additional inlet. Dr. Hering says that the contention of the government is unfounded and from data which he has gathered he will show that by using Lake Superior as a storage place the Michigan and Huron lake levels can be maintained.

Will Test Local Option Law.

Announcement that the liquor interests are preparing to make a test of the new local option law, based on the recent elections throughout Illinois, was made by Rufus N. Potts, manager of the Reich Indemnity company. This company furnishes bonds for many saloonkeepers. The test will be made on the assumption that the law is not in accordance with the Illinois constitution. "We expect to raise this question just as soon as the law becomes operative," said Mr. Potts, "and will probably do so in three or four counties."

To Probe Canal Board's Acts.

In the house Speaker Shurtliff appointed the committee which is authorized to investigate the acts of the Illinois and Michigan canal commissioners in leasing state property along the canal. The investigators are Representatives Flannigan, Church, Gillespie, Hearn and Egan. This committee proposes to get busy almost immediately in order to lay a report of the canal board's action before the house on November 20.

Senate Passes Minor Bills.

The senate passed the following bills: By Joint—Amending the vital statistics law to eliminate the requirement that the county pay a fee of 25 cents for each birth reported. By Dunlap—For the protection of shell fish, requiring a license from clam fishers not residents of the state. By Berry—An amendment to the legal practice act.

Fishing Preserve May Be Sold.

It is reported that a syndicate of Chicago sportsmen may purchase the famous 2,000 acre hunting and fishing preserve of the Powers brothers, of Decatur, which is located on the Illinois river in the southwest portion of Mason county. This preserve is said to be one of the best duck feeding grounds in the state, and hundreds of the birds are killed annually at this place. The new law which prohibits shooting more than 20 ducks a day is said to warrant abandoning the preserve.

Sees Little Value in Opinion.

Walter A. Lantz, one of the sponsors of the navigability bill, said that the opinion of the attorney general is entitled to little consideration from a legal standpoint. He said that all the bill assumes to do is to authorize the governor and the attorney general to institute proceedings to prevent obstructions being placed in the river. He added that if the stream is navigable, in fact, then the proceedings will be successful, and if it is not navigable, in fact, then the proceedings will fail.

Deneen "Stands Pat" on Bill.

Gov. Deneen is determined to exhaust every resource in his efforts to preserve water power rights in the Des Plaines river to the state. He is standing firmly for the passage of the Allen-Lantz bill declaring the Des Plaines and Illinois rivers navigable streams, despite the fact that Attorney General Stead in his opinion holds the measure is worthless. The executive gave out a statement pointing out reasons why the legislature should pass the bill in question. In substance the governor's statement says: "The importance of the 'navigability legislation' arises out of the conditions which confront us in reference to the proposed deep waterway. The general assembly has passed by submission to the voters in November, 1908, a constitutional amendment by which the legislature of our state is to be permitted to appropriate the sum of $20,000,000 for the construction of a waterway and the development of water power incident thereto. This, therefore, is an emergency proposition, and in view of the existing difference of opinion as to the law upon this subject and the advantage of having the position and intention of the state made plain by legislative enactment, I deem the passage of the navigability legislation of great importance. The power of the executive to prevent the construction of this dam is held to be in serious doubt. The passage of this legislation will remove that doubt and give the executive and the attorney general undoubted authority to act at once. In the event the attorney general is correct in his opinion, no harm will follow its enactment, and in the event he is in error irreparable injury will be prevented."

Begin Canal Investigation.

Investigation of the affairs of the Illinois and Michigan canal commission by the house of representatives began Tuesday, when the members of the commission met the five members of the house investigating committee in Chicago to take up the work. While it is up to the committee to decide what course will be pursued in the inquiry the members will be invited by the commission to make a trip to Dresden Heights for the purpose of inspecting the site of the Economy Light & Power company's new dam and the relation of the state's property to the same. The committee also will be invited to the office of the canal commission where, the commissioners assert, every assistance will be given the probers.

First Regiment Trophy Exhibited.

The solid silver trophy donated by Col. S. E. Bliss to the Illinois State Rifle association was exhibited in the accounting room of the Metropolitan Trust and Savings bank in Chicago. The cup was presented to the association to be used by it as a perpetual trophy for annual competition by teams representing various state military organizations. It was captured by the First Regiment, I. N. G. The trophy, valued at $1,000, is 30 inches high on an ornate base ten inches high and contains 300 ounces of silver. An American eagle adorns the top, while various emblems are carved into the body of the cup.

ATTORNEY GENERAL

His Department is the Heart Action of the Entire State Government.

ELEVATED TO PLANE INTENDED

Business of the Department Has More Than Doubled During the Past Three Years—Attorney General's Duties.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 5.—The Attorney General's department is the heart action of the State government. Upon it depend, in a large degree, the vigor and healthfulness with which all other functions of State government are exercised. When it is performed with force and power, the balance of State government responds in like degree.

The Hamlin administration of the office was a tonic. A new life was injected into the department by his rulings and decisions. Attorney General William H. Stead has proved a worthy successor. The result is that a department, which for many years was a dead weight, is now a living force.

Various township officers, such as supervisors, assessors, collectors and road commissioners have no official adviser. Furthermore, many of the smaller cities and villages have no city or village attorney. Requests and appeals by the hundreds flow constantly into the Attorney General's office from this class of officials, asking opinions upon all conceivable questions.

Cuts Off Special Counsel

During Attorney General Hamlin's administration he ruled that, with the exception of the Insurance Department, none of these boards or commissions had any power to employ special attorneys. He ruled further that the Attorney General is made by law the legal adviser of all State Officers, institutions, boards and commissions. This ruling was so manifestly correct that it was not questioned, and the score of special attorneys surrendered their positions, and the legal business of the State was turned into its proper channel.

The duties of the Attorney General may be divided into two classes: The official, and the unofficial.

Officially, he is required, among other things, to represent the State and each State officer in all actions and proceedings in the State and National Supreme Courts.

To advise the various State officers (including the State's Attorneys) and give written opinions, when requested, in all matters relating to the duties of their offices.

To prepare contracts for all the various boards, departments and State institutions. To give written opinions to the General Assembly or any of its committees on constitutional or legal questions.

To enforce the proper application of funds appropriated to the various State institutions and prosecute all breaches of trust relating thereto. The statute provides that when in his judgment the interests of the people require it, the Attorney General shall attend the trial of any party accused of crime, and assist in the prosecution. Neither this provision of the statute, however, nor any other, either contemplates or requires that the Attorney General shall officially institute prosecutions under the Criminal Code in the various counties of the State. If he were required to do this, it would necessitate a small army of assistants. It is the duty of the State's Attorney to commence and prosecute all criminal suits, indictments and prosecutions in the courts within his county in which the people of the State are interested. While it is the duty of the Attorney General to advise the State's Attorney, and when he deems it necessary, to attend the trial and to assist in the prosecution, it is not his duty, and neither has he the right, to supplant the State's Attorney.

Work of Attorney-General.

A concrete example of the growth of the official business of the Attorney General's department may be found in a comparison of the reports of official opinions. From January, 1901, to January, 1906, a period of five years, the official opinions comprise two volumes of seventeen hundred pages.

From January, 1906, to October, 1907, a period of two years and nine months, the official opinions comprise six volumes of fifty-four hundred pages.

Aside from his official duties, the Attorney General is compelled by circumstances and conditions to perform many other duties. The officers of many municipalities have no constituted legal adviser. The State's Attorney is the official adviser of county officers, and the city attorney of city officers.

Various township officers, such as supervisors, assessors, collectors and road commissioners have no official adviser. Furthermore, many of the smaller cities and villages have no city or village attorney.

Requests and appeals by the hundreds flow constantly into the Attorney General's office from this class of officials, asking opinions upon all conceivable questions.

Private citizens frequently request opinions both upon questions of public interest and private concern.

Attorney General Stead's policy has been to comply with the requests and demands of these various officials and private citizens, in so far as they related to matters of public importance, whenever the official business of the office has been such as to permit it.

He has pursued this policy for two reasons. First, because in matters pertaining to the construction of statutes the public is interested, and, second, because in many instances it requires less time to give an opinion than to write a courteous letter declining to do so.

Obtains Big Ruling for State.

Attorney General Stead has instituted and handled probably more important cases than any other Attorney General. Some of these cases have not only involved large amounts of revenue, but legal questions of great concern to the future.

Among these suits were those against the ex-treasurers and ex-auditors and their bondsmen for the recovery of costs they had collected and appropriated under what is known as the "Registered Bond Act." In November, 1905, Governor Deneen asked Attorney General Stead for an opinion as to the legal right of the auditors and treasurers to retain these costs, and as to the right of the State to recover them. Since 1870 the various State auditors and State treasurers had appropriated these costs to their own use in addition to their salaries, and no one had ever been legally questioned.

A number of the officials involved, as well as some of their bondsmen, were neighbors and personal friends of Attorney General Stead, but neither in this instance, nor in any other, in the discharge of his official duties, has he known friend or foe.

Mr. Stead held that these officials were not entitled to these costs, and further that the State could recover them either from the officials themselves or from their bondsmen.

men, Governor Deneen made a demand upon the ex-treasurers and ex-auditors and their bondsmen for these costs, and upon their refusal to pay, a test case was instituted by the Attorney General in the Circuit Court of Sangamon County. The ex-auditors pooled issue, employed some of the ablest lawyers of the State, and contested every inch of the ground through the Circuit and Supreme Courts. Mr. Stead argued the case orally in the Supreme Court and his argument was conceded by those who heard it to be a demonstration.

Handles Illinois Central Case.

The case of the State against the Illinois Central Railroad Company recently instituted by the Attorney General in the Circuit Court of La Salle County, will occupy a prominent place in the history of litigation in the State. It has already attracted attention throughout the country, and is the subject of the public press, but of the law magazines and members of the bar.

In 1881 the Legislature of Illinois incorporated the Illinois Central Railroad Company, and authorized it to build a main line from Cairo to the Illinois and Michigan Canal, with two branches. The State donated to the company 2,000,000 acres of land, from which the company has since realized over $7,000,000. In return for the charter and this donation of land, the company agreed to pay semi-annually to the State a sum of money amounting to at least seven per cent of the gross proceeds, receipts and income derived from this main line and two branches.

For many years the main line and two branches comprised the company's entire system, and it was an easy matter to settle with the State. Afterward, however, the company began to acquire by lease, purchase and otherwise, other lines, until the Illinois Central system today is one of the railroad networks of the country, and the original charter lines compose but a small part of it.

After acquiring these non-charter lines, the obligation of the company still continued to pay into the State treasury an amount equal to at least 7 per cent of the gross receipts, and income derived from the charter lines. In order to arrive at this sum it was necessary to adopt some system of dividing the freight, passenger and other earnings between the charter and non-charter lines.

State Asks Fair Division.

The State contends that in the division of these earnings the company has not dealt fairly, but has resorted to all sorts of schemes, devices and practices for the purpose of minimizing the earnings of the charter lines, and that the State has thereby been deprived of a vast revenue to which it was fairly entitled under the charter. All of these various schemes and practices resorted to by the company are set up in the bill, and the State asks that a fair and proper basis of dividing the earnings be fixed by the court, that all the revenue provisions of the charter be construed, and that the company be required to pay into the treasury whatever amounts an accounting upon the basis to be fixed may show to be due.

The suit was originally begun in the Supreme Court. The Attorney General, however, in a public interview stated that while the Supreme Court had original jurisdiction of the case, it was not required to exercise it, and that it was doubtful whether it would do so. He further stated that should the Supreme Court decline to exercise jurisdiction, the suit could be saved, and that no time would be lost if it declined to exercise original jurisdiction, because the suit could immediately be brought in the Circuit Court of La Salle County. The company demurred to the bill and the demurrer has already been partially argued before Judge Stough.

A large amount of revenue is involved in this suit, but more important than this is the final settlement of questions which have been mooted and discussed for half a century.

Among other important cases instituted or participated in by the Attorney General are the following: The Continental Finance case, the Joliet Track Elevation case, the Illinois box car case, the Bartonville Asylum case, the Teachers' Text case, the Kankaskia Commons case, the Milwaukee Avenue Bank failure, the Edgar County Election case, the Interstate Railroad cases.

Increases Inheritance Revenue.

Largely because of the new methods and systematized work inaugurated by the present Attorney General, the income of the State from inheritance taxes now exceeds the revenue from any other source, except the Illinois Central Railroad and the general revenue law. In two years and nine months, from January, 1905, $1,200,000 of inheritance taxes have been levied, and substantially all of these taxes have already been paid into the State treasury. Attorney General Hamlin, in his last report, recommended larger appropriations and improved methods for collecting inheritance taxes, especially in Cook County. At that time the inheritance tax attorney in Cook County had neither an assistant, a hearing office nor a stenographer. Hearings were held in the office of the appraisers at no stated time, and much of the time of the inheritance tax attorney was necessarily devoted to "leg work."

Mr. Stead secured appropriations commensurate with the needs of the office in Cook County. An inheritance tax office is now maintained in the Boardland Block, where all hearings are had. A hearing calendar is made up, and hearings are had before the appraisers on stated days during each week. The inheritance tax attorney is provided with an assistant and two stenographers. This system makes it possible to look after the small estate, as well as the large one. The inheritance tax attorney's salaries aggregate vast sums of money.

Attorney General Stead, through special assistants, paid out of his general appropriations, has succeeded in collecting a large amount of inheritance taxes in the counties outside of Cook. Under the system which he inaugurated it is a conservative estimate that two and one-half million dollars of inheritance taxes will be paid into the State treasury during his administration.

Unnecessary.

Magistrate Corrigan of New York recently advised a detective to use short words in his testimony—"said yes" instead of "assented," "went" instead of "proceeded," and so forth. "Long, unusual words, except in scientific writings are unnecessary," said the well known magistrate to a reporter the other day. "They are as unnecessary, and they spoil the effect, as-as-but I'll tell you a story."

"A lecturer was describing the sea. He told of the sea's size, its power, its inhabitants. Then he said in impressive tones:

"There are depths in the sea where in the loftiest mountain ranges would be easily hidden from view."

"A solemn man in black rose at this point."

"I desire to ask one question," he said pompously.

"Very well," said the lecturer, with a gracious nod.

"I wish to know," said the solemn man, "how you will move the ranges?"

AWFUL PRAIRIE FIRE

TWENTY MILES OF MINNESOTA COUNTRY AFLAME.

SIGHT A THRILLING ONE

Elevator at Superior, Wis., Destroyed, Causing Loss Estimated at $3,000, 000—Three May Be Dead in St. Paul Blaze.

Crookston, Minn. — The most terrific prairie fire that has raged in this section for 15 years is sweeping over the territory from north of Angus to a point a few miles north of this city. The entire heavens to the north of this city were lighted up all night, the fire extending over a distance of 20 miles north and south, and was fanned by a fierce wind. Passengers arriving on the train from St. Vincent state that the sight was a most thrilling one, such as has not been seen here since the early days. The Northern Pacific track, running from Grand Falls to Redland Falls, did not stop its progress, but thus far it has not jumped the old St. Hillaire roadbed.

Hundreds of Tons of Hay Burned. The extent of the damage cannot be estimated at this time. Hundreds of tons of hay have been burned, some of the rural telephone lines running that territory are also out of commission, so that details are meager. No reports have been received of the destruction of farm buildings with the exception of some buildings that are not occupied.

$3,000,000 Fire in Duluth. Duluth, Minn. — Fire which started in the Great Northern elevator at Superior, Wis., about nine o'clock Friday night was not extinguished until late Saturday, destroying the elevator, three flour mills, 40 homes and 700,000 bushels of grain. Two scows, a derrick and two tugs were also destroyed.

The loss is estimated at $3,000,000. One man who entered the plant of the Duluth-Superior Storage company to rescue a tool chest was not seen again, and it is feared that he perished in the flames.

The estimated losses are partially distributed as follows: Great Northern elevator and power house, $250,000; Freeman flour mill and elevators, $250,000; Great Lakes Dredge & Dock Co., $75,000; Mankato flour mill and elevator, $50,000; Webster Chair company, $30,000; Superior Ship-Building company, $25,000; Whitney Bros., marine contractors, $25,000; Northern Pacific railway bridge, $50,000.

Three May Be Dead in St. Paul Fire. St. Paul, Minn. — Up to Saturday night no trace had been found of Arthur Glanders and Fred Dielschneider, aged 17 and 18 years, respectively, who are supposed to have been burned to death in the fire which destroyed the plant of the Northern Cooperage company at Concord and Arthur streets Friday night. Early Saturday the fire was completely extinguished and search has since been going on for the bodies of the missing boys. It was reported at noon Saturday that a third employee of the company, whose name has not yet been learned, is missing and it is feared he may have perished in the same manner as the other two boys. The property loss was about $35,000.

Twenty Houses Burned at Bowbells. Bowbells, N. D. — The fourth and most disastrous fire in the history of the village of Bowbells started Friday evening in Lutz livery barn from unknown origin.

A high wind from the west made it impossible for citizens to stop the flames, the town having no protection whatever. In all 20 business houses were destroyed and 15 horses in livery barn entailing a loss of about $130,000, partly insured.

CONFLAGRATION IN IQUIQUE.

Two Thousand Persons Made Homeless in Chilean City.

Iquique, Chile. — This port has been visited by a fire, the biggest since 1882, which has entailed losses amounting to over $1,000,000. It broke out Saturday and seven and a half blocks were burned over before it was under control. The property destroyed was mostly dwellings of the poor and no less than 2,000 people are homeless. The fire was about one mile distant from the commercial quarter of the city.

Earthquake in Unalaska.

San Francisco. — Capt. Tilton of the whaler Herman, which arrived in port Friday morning from the Arctic, reports that a terrific earthquake occurred at Unalaska about a month ago and that McCullough peak, which was created by an earthquake nearly a year ago and extended over 3,400 feet above the sea, has dwindled to almost nothing as a result of submarine disturbances.

Floods in Italy Are Serious.

Rome. — The rainstorms and floods throughout Italy continue. Railroad tracks are being carried away in several places, and reports are being received of the destruction of houses. Several lives also have been lost.

Fatal Duel Over Election Bet.

Fernando, Ky. — As the result of a quarrel over an election bet, William Hopkins and Frank Foley, of this place, fought a duel here Sunday. Hopkins was instantly killed and Foley is fatally wounded.

FLEET IS NEARLY READY

DETAILS OF PACIFIC CRUISE ARE BEING COMPLETED.

Long Trip Will Test Provisions—Methods of Preservation and Packing Will Be Tried.

Washington. — Every detail in the preparations for the sailing of the battleship fleet to the Pacific ocean is now well in hand and by December 16, the date on which the vessels will pass out of Hampton roads in review before President Roosevelt, members of his cabinet and high officers of the navy, all arrangements for the comfort of the men en route will have been attended to.

At all of the navy yards the work of making necessary repairs is being pushed, and these will be completed by December 1; provisions are being stored aboard the vessels and their coal bunkers are being filled to their capacity. Upon the recommendation of Admiral Evans, four anchors will be carried by each vessel, so as to be ready for any emergency.

The cost of provisioning the fleet is estimated at about $375,000, contemplating the feeding of a force of 16,000 men for 100 days. Only this week contracts were awarded for head cheese, Frankfurter and other sausages, and veal.

Advantage will be taken of the two-ocean cruise of the battle ships to make several tests with the provisions aboard—their preservation, packing and handling. It is desired to find some suitable form of bagging in which to carry dried provisions, as it is believed bags will afford the advantage of compactness and greater facility in handling in difficult places than if their contents were carried in boxes or barrels.

Incidental to the visit of the fleet to the Pacific coast, the navy department is making arrangements to obtain a place for small-arms firing there, so as to give the men an opportunity for experience in that direction. It may be that improvised targets will be established at Magdalena bay, where there is to be considerable target practice, but the preference is to secure land for the establishment of ranges to accommodate 2,000 men a day as at Guantanamo.

SANTA FE FINED $330,000.

Road Found Guilty of Rebating Receives Its Punishment.

Los Angeles, Cal. — Judge Olin Wellborn in the United States district court Thursday fined the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe company $330,000 for rebating. The fine was what the court denominated "an intermediate penalty," the maximum which might have been assessed being $1,320,000 and the minimum $66,000.

The Santa Fe company was convicted on October 11 last by a jury in the federal court of granting rebates to the Grand Canyon Lime and Cement company of Arizona. It was found guilty of all the 66 counts charged in the indictment after an hour's deliberation. The rebates, which were given on shipments of lime and cement from Nelson, Arizona, to Los Angeles, ranged in amounts from 35 cents to $15.

Los Angeles, Cal. — Following close upon the heavy fine imposed upon the Santa Fe Railroad company by Judge Wellborn in the federal district court, United States District Attorney Lawler announced Friday that he would proceed next the coming January term of court to prosecute the road upon the remaining indictment of ten counts charging rebating.

HOW THE KITTY BLOCKS THE GAME.

BANK RESERVE LOSS LESS

ARRIVALS OF MORE GOLD PROBABLY WILL OFFSET IT.

Crop Movement Helped—Europe Must Pay for Balance of Exported Products.

New York. — The most eventful week in the financial history of the present generation came to a close on Saturday with conditions much clearer than a week before, but with some clouds still hanging over the financial horizon.

The previous week had closed with the disquieting announcement that the New York bank reserves had lost $20,000,000 in cash, in spite of deposits by the government during the week of a nearly equal sum, representing a net cash loss of $60,000,000.

The bank statement of Saturday changes this situation. While it shows a nominal decrease in required reserves of $13,055,800, more than two-thirds of this decrease is due to the reserve requirements caused by increase in deposits because of the taking over of loans from the trust companies by the banks.

Unless demands from the country are very heavy this week, the arrival of additional gold will more than offset the loss of cash last week and make a creditable showing for reserves on Saturday next.

The demand for gold from Europe came at a favorable time in some respects for the outward movement of American products of which the leading ones are cotton and wheat. The fact that European bankers declined during the summer to accept American bills, because they already feared the storm, made the demand upon them more sudden than would have been the case if American bankers had found it necessary at the present time to buy cotton and grain bills to cover previous borrowings. Under the actual conditions Europe must pay substantially in gold for the balance of exported products which is being created in favor of this country by every bale of cotton and carload of wheat placed on shipboard for export.

FORMER BANKER IS SENTENCED.

F. J. Tygard of Butler, Mo., Given Five Years in Penitentiary.

Kansas City, Mo. — F. J. Tygard, president of the Bates National bank of Butler, Mo., when it failed September 20, 1906, was sentenced Wednesday to five years in the penitentiary by Judge McPherson in the federal court. The conviction was on the charge of misapplying funds of the bank.

Mr. Tygard is past 70 years of age and is practically paralyzed. He pleaded guilty to the charges and was given the minimum sentence. Judge McPherson intimated that if application was made for pardon it might be favorably considered on account of the prisoner's age and condition.

Convicted for Suicide Pact.

Liberty, Mo. — The jury in the case of Jesse B. Webb, charged with the murder of Inez Walkup, with whom he had been living, brought in a verdict of manslaughter in the fourth degree Thursday, fixing the punishment at eight years in the penitentiary. The tragedy occurred in a hotel room in Liberty.

GAVE HIS LIFE TO SAVE TOWN.

Heroism of Mexican Engineer in Explosion at Nacozari, Ariz.

Douglas, Ariz. — The death list as a result of the Nacozari explosion Thursday is now placed at 14 or 15, all Mexicans, beside John Chisholm, aged 13, who was riding on the train when the explosion occurred.

A train on the narrow gauge railroad to the Pinar mine in some way caught fire. In the train were two open cars heavily loaded with explosives, and the fact that the concentrator and a good part of the town of Nacozari were saved from ruin was due to the bravery of the Mexican engineer of the train, Jesus Garcia. Realizing that to cut out the burning cars and escape on the engine would expose the town to probable destruction, he called to the rest of the crew to jump and started to run the train away from the town. He had taken it about a half mile when the explosion occurred and he was blown to atoms. It is reported that another member of the crew stayed with him and was killed. The heavy death list is due to the fact that the explosion occurred just as the train was passing a section house in which were a number of section men.

CLAIM FOR CREOLES DENIED.

Louisiana Court Refuses to Distinguish Them from Other Citizens.

New Orleans. — An attempt to have Louisiana creoles placed in a class so distinct from other American citizens that they would have different jury rights failed Saturday in the supreme court. The record of the case was made public Sunday.

T. M. Laborde, whose counsel asserted him to be a creole, in appealing a forgery charge gave in his complaint the claim that his jury should have been composed either entirely or largely of creoles. His counsel claimed that although Laborde lived in a parish where 95 per cent. of the population was creole, nearly all his jurors were Americans. Creoles were defined as descendants of French and Spanish ancestry, particularly French. They were said to hold more tenaciously to the racial characteristics and traditions of their ancestors than persons of other descent in this country. The court did not recognize this distinction.

The recipient of the card was Miss Anna Shine, of Aurora. The postcard is not only declared suggestive in itself, but it contained words which referred to a visit to Chicago by Miss Shine, which the latter holds calculated to slander her.

Miss Armbruster was held to the grand jury in bonds of $300 and will be given a trial at the December term of court.

Hill, the railroad magnate. Mr. Taylor left for Taber, Alberta, Canada, where his headquarters will be, but his family will not accompany him at this time.

On his vacation last summer Mr. Taylor bought 31,000 acres of coal lands for the Hill interests in Canada, and they were able to turn it shortly afterwards at a profit of $1,000,000. In addition to a good salary he will receive $25,000 in stock at the end of his first year.

FOR PEACE OR FIGHT

ORGANIZED LABOR IS READY FOR EITHER, SAYS GOMPERS.

QUOTES ADMIRAL EVANS

Asserts Workmen Will Stand for Their Rights—American Federation in Convention at Norfolk.

Norfolk, Va.—The first session of the American Federation of Labor, which began its twenty-seventh annual convention at the Jamestown exposition Monday, was devoted to speechmaking and the reading of reports.

In response to the addresses of welcome by Gov. Swanson and Exposition President Tucker, Mr. Gompers paid a tribute to Virginia and to the exposition. He confined his remarks chiefly to general matters, but toward the end came down to labor principles, and said:

"I know of no organization that makes so little pretense of patriotism, but in which true patriotism prevails to such a large extent as in organized labor. We want peace; we love peace and are working for peace, and in the proportion that our working people are better organized we will secure peace. But we are not supine; we are not driving synchophants; we know our rights—or we think we do, and that is just as good—and we are going to stand for them."

"I do not want to discuss any military or naval affairs or the policies of our government, but we all know that the federal government authorities have decided that the navy of the United States is going to be transferred from the Atlantic to the Pacific. There is a man chosen to boss the job of taking the entire fleet from one ocean to the other of whom I wish to speak. That is Fighting Bob Evans, who said in connection with transferring the fleet:

"I don't know what may be the result of this cruise. I have only one mission and that is to see that the fleet goes to the Pacific coast; and whether it was to be for fun or frolic or a fight, we will be there."

BURGARS TORTURE OLD WOMAN

Burn, Beat and Kick Her Until She Is Near Death.

Rochester, N. Y.—Burgars on Friday night broke into the residence of Mrs. Stella Mathurin, an aged woman who lives alone near the state road, in the town of Perinton, and subjected her to terrible tortures in an effort to force her to reveal her savings. She was discovered Sunday by neighbors and is not expected to recover.

Two men forced an entrance to her house at midnight. They seized the aged woman, bound her to a chair and held lighted newspapers close to her eyes, allowing the flames to burn her hands and arms. Then they ransacked the house and finding only four dollars they vented their rage by beating the woman and kicking her into insensibility.

Another man lost his life by falling from a rope which he was using as a fire escape.

The fire was confined to the fifth floor, where it started, and the one below. It was out shortly after two o'clock. The damage, it is thought, will be over $25,000, although no estimate could be given.

Woman Lives as Man 60 Years.

Trinidad, Col.—Catherine Vosbaugh, who for nearly 60 years passed as a man, died at a hospital in this city Monday. Miss Vosbaugh was born in France 83 years ago. When a young woman she found it difficult to make her way on account of her sex and, adopting men's clothes, she obtained employment as a bookkeeper. In 1901, she married a woman, with whom she lived for over 30 years. The two women, still masquerading as man and wife, came to Trinidad two years ago.

WHEN MONEY WAS SCARCE.

Practically Unobtainable During Period of Missouri's History.

"However scarce money may be at times at the present," said an old Missourian, "the oldest inhabitants will recall when it was almost unobtainable and other commodities had to be used as media of exchange. The wolf's scalp was worth a dollar because it was a state bounty upon the death of a wolf, and venison hams and deer skins also had a purchasing value. Skins of the fur bearers were likewise abundant and valuable. When the first sheriff of Audrain county, in 1837, went to Jefferson City to deliver the county revenue, he met an old friend on the way who, needing money, wanted to borrow the actual coin part of the county's revenue. The good-hearted sheriff lent it to him and went on to the capital and delivered only the scalps. By the time of the next settlement the loan was repaid and the sheriff made his next settlement complete. No note or other obligation than the mere word was given."—Columbia Herald.

The Peaceful Cow.

She was even more afraid of cows than most girls, so when she spied a placid animal recumbent under a tree, peacefully chewing its cud, she at first refused to go through the pasture at all. Her husband calmed her fears to some extent, and they started by, when the cow slowly commenced to get up, hind legs first, as they always do. At this the little lady shrieked with terror, and said:

"Oh, Bob, hurry, hurry, he is getting ready to spring at us!"—Harper's Magazine.

TO PRETENDERS.

A Wholesome Word for Guidance.

Just a word to you, "Colliers" and other glaring examples of Modern Yellow Journalism and Cigarettes.

Environment gives you a view-point from which it is difficult to understand that some people even nowadays act from motives of old-fashioned honesty.

There are honest makers of foods and healthful beverages and there are honest people who use them.

Perhaps you are trained to believe there is no honesty in this world. There is, although you may not be of a kind to understand it.

Some of you have been trained in a sorry class of pretenders, but your training does not taint the old-fashioned person trained without knowledge of pretense and deceit.

These letters came to us absolutely without solicitation. We have a great many thousands from people who have been helped or entirely healed by following the suggestions to quit the food or drink which may be causing the physical complaints and change to Postum Coffee or Grape-Nuts food.

You are not intelligent enough to know the technical reasons why the change makes a change in the cells of the body. Your knowledge, or lack of knowledge, makes not the slightest difference in the facts.

You can print from old and worn plates all the cheap books your presses will produce and sell them as best you can, but such acts and your "learned" editorials are but commercial, and seek only "dollars" and much by pretence.

When you branch out into food values you become only ridiculous. Stick to what you know. The field may be small but it is safe.

This first letter is from the President of the "Christian Nation", a worthy Christian paper of New York.

Postum Cereal Co., Ltd.,
Battle Creek, Mich.

Dear Sirs:

I am, this morning, in receipt of the enclosed mighty good letter from one of my subscribers, which I forward to you, and which I am sure you will be glad to use. I am personally acquainted with this lady, and know that she has no object in writing, other than to do good.

Cordially,
John W. Pritchard, Pres.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 1, 1907.

Dear Mr. Pritchard:

Noticing Postum Food Coffee advertised each week in your reliable paper, I concluded to try it, and feeling it a duty towards those who may have suffered as I have from indigestion, desire to state what wonderful benefit I have received from Postum although using only a short time, and not do. I alone realize and appreciate its good effects, but friends remark, "How much I have improved and how well I look," and I tell the facts about Postum every time, for since using it I have not had one attack of indigestion. It is invigorating, healthful; does not affect the nerves as ordinary coffee, and if properly made, a most delicious drink. Although I have not had much faith in general advertising, yet, finding Postum has done so much better for me than I expected I am more inclined to "Prove all things, hold fast that which is good." I am so thankful for good health that I want it known what a blessing Postum has been to me. You may use these few lines as an ad. if you so desire and my name also.

Very truly yours,
Anna S. Reeves.

HERE'S A NEW DEFINITION.

And Many There Are Will Say Senator Platt Was Right.

A rather cynical joke has been recently credited to Senator Platt.

The senator, on his last visit to the Manhattan Beach hotel, allowed a pretty little girl, a western millionaire's daughter, to be presented to him.

The little girl, in the course of one of her many chats with the aged statesman, said:

"Tell me, won't you, senator, what political economy is?"

"Political economy, my dear child," Senator Platt is said to have replied, "is the art of never buying more votes than you actually need."

BABY'S ECZEMA GREW WORSE.

Hospitals and Doctors Could Not Relieve Him—But Cuticura Remedies a Speedy, Permanent Cure.

"Eczema appeared when our baby was three months old. We applied to several doctors and hospitals, each of which gave us something different every time, but nothing brought relief. At last, one of our friends recommended to us Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. A few days afterwards improvement could be noted. Since then we have used nothing but Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, and now the baby is six months old and is quite cured. All that we used was one cake of Cuticura Soap and two boxes Cuticura Ointment, costing in all $1.25. C. F. Kara, 343 East 56th Street, New York, March 30, 1906."

Eluding the Teacher.

Willie came to school for the first time. In one hand he carried a cap and in the other a bunch of bananas.

"You can't come in here with those bananas," said the teacher.

Willie went out. In a few minutes he came back, walking slowly and painfully.

"Where did you put the bananas?" asked the teacher. "I hid them all right," gasped Willie; "they're safe inside of me."

Sheer white goods, in fact, any fine wash goods when now, owe much of their attractiveness to the way they are laundered, this being done in a manner to enhance their textile beauty. Home laundering would be equally satisfactory if proper attention was given to starching, the first essential being good Starch, which has sufficient strength to stiffen, without thickening the goods. Try Dettol Starch and you will be pleasantly surprised at the improved appearance of your work.

Saying "Hello" to Heart Throbs. "It is a curious thing," said a prominent lecturer recently, "how some books have a strong radiating personality, so that you feel like saying 'Howdy' every time you come across them. Last Christmas I visited friends back at the old home on the farm. When the supper dishes had been put away, the chores done and the evening lamp lighted we gathered beside the organ for a good old fashioned 'sing.' On the center table were strewn the Christmas remembrances taken from Christmas tree on the evening before. Glancing over them I suddenly exclaimed 'Hello! my good friend, Hello!' and as the others looked up with surprise, I picked up a copy of 'Heart Throbs' and read to them from its pages the 'pledge' I spoke in school 40 years ago."

"That was enough to set in motion the friendly entertaining spirit of Heart Throbs, and the music was forgotten as we took turns reading the humorous and pathetic bits of prose and verse that have been preserved in this wonderful volume. Some books have great literary value, some have historical significance, but Heart Throbs is the only book I know that slaps you on the back in a friendly sort of way, suiting itself to your moods and proving faithful to every emotion. Next to my love of the Bible I love Heart Throbs. It is the most notable book of the times."

Restricted Choice.

"The people and the corporations," said Senator La Follette the other day, "remind me of a woman and her little boy. There was a very large chicken and a very small duck on the table and the woman, pausing with the carving knife raised, said: 'Johnny, which will you take, chicken or duck?' 'Duck,' piped Johnny. But the mother shook her head. 'No, Johnny,' she said in a firm, yet kindly voice, 'you can't have duck, my dear. Take your choice, darling, take your choice, but you can't have duck.'"

Laundry work at home would be much more satisfactory if the right Starch were used. In order to get the desired stiffness, it is usually necessary to use so much starch that the beauty and fineness of the fabric is hidden behind a paste of varying thickness, which not only destroys the appearance, but also affects the wearing quality of the goods. This trouble can be entirely overcome by using Dettol Starch, as it can be applied much more thinly because of its greater strength than other makes.

Great Comfort.

"Yes," remarked Mr. Russell, impressively, "the doctor says if I don't take a rest and not work so hard I'll be dead in a year."

"Ah!" exclaimed his wife, "what a consolation it must be to you to know that your life's insured."

Gold in the North.
Perhaps the most northerly gold fields in the world are those in Lapland, where the River Ivalo seems to be the center of an auriferous region, where gold dredging operations have been carried on for some time. Digging to the depth of 100 feet have been completed with a view of finding out the real course of the ore. The gold discovered last year by a company, founded in the United States, amounted to only four pounds, valued at $1,500. This was found along a part of the Ivalo river, and the largest nugget weighed about 123 grains. There are three companies digging gold there now, the latest being the Ivalo company, organized in the United States. Within the possessions of this company lies Kuitava, which was built in 1871 by the Finnish government for washing gold.
